Reading School At the Westcott Preserve

The Township received official word from the County that ownership of the Reading School on Rosemont-Raven Rock Rd. has been transferred to Delaware Township. The Delaware Township Historical Society is planning to restore the building to its original condition as a one-room school. This will involve debris removal, removing interior walls (added when it became a residence), scrubbing, painting, building two outhouses, etc.

An Eagle Scout and his family have stepped forward to assist. They have some wonderful ideas about the entire project, including interviewing former students to help tell the story of the school. But the Historical Society will also need help from the community, including additional labor to clean, paint, make repairs, and donations to help these efforts.

When all is finished, members of the Historical Society plan to offer "classes" to students so they can experience what it was like in a one-room school. The building will also be used for educational nature talks and companion walks in the Westcott Preserve, as well as children's art lessons ... a lovely revitalization of this little building!

Anyone interested in helping with the work or donating in any way, please contact Chuck Taylor [908-268-2857] or Marilyn Cummings [609-397-5363].

Meet Your Neighbor: John Weingart and Deborah Spitalnik

by Mary Coffey

Being of an age to be comfortably retired may be a blessing to many people, but it's not for everyone. There are some who so enjoy their jobs that retirement is not in the near future. John and Deborah, a delightful and fun couple, are two of these.

Both John and Deborah came from New York City. They met between high school and college while working on a political campaign for a Congressional candidate, and both discovered that they were going to Brandeis University. They got married 14 years later.

After college graduation, their lives intertwined. She worked as a teacher in the public schools of Boston, then went to graduate school in Cambridge, and later to Philadelphia for a doctorate in Clinical Psychology at Temple University. He moved to Princeton for a Masters in Public Affairs at the Woodrow Wilson School and subsequently went to work for the NJ Department of Environmental Protection. Eventually, with John working in Trenton, and Deborah studying at Temple in Philadelphia they moved to Haddonfield together. And they finally got married.

So how did they discover Delaware Township? For 40 years, John has been doing a Sunday-evening radio show on WPRB (103.3 FM and WPRB.com), the Princeton University station, on which he plays folk music, country blues and bluegrass. Around 1980, the station got a sponsor, "Common Sense Energy," a woodstove company located in Sergeantsville in the building which now houses WDVR. The owner wanted him to walk around his shop to help generate ideas for ads. So John came to Sergeantsville for the first time and thought it was a lovely area that looked like Vermont.

When working at DEP, John met the late Donald Jones, one of the Township's great champions of preserving Township history and open space. Donald, as president of the NJ Conservation Foundation, organized a boat trip up the Hudson River to discuss the restoration of land on the NJ side. Donald invited John to be a speaker. During the trip they met a couple, Peter and Carolyn Moore, who had recently moved to Delaware Township. The four became friends, and later, the Moores asked John and Deborah to house-sit for them for six weeks. Deborah was finishing her dissertation, so it seemed like a good idea to move to an area of peace and quiet so she could concentrate. "By the end of the six weeks", Deborah says, "they had fallen in love" with Sergeantsville's beauty, peace, and friendliness and it was centrally located to Princeton, Trenton and Philadelphia. In 1982 they bought their 1885 home which had only had two previous owners. "Coming from the city, I never imagined living in a place like this" says Deborah. "Now I can't imagine living anywhere else." They put a conservation easement on their 13-acre farm, and with the preservation of the nearby Emmons corner, Kean farm, and Dilts Park, it is heartwarming to know that this intersection of Rittenhouse, Buchanan and Sandy Ridge Roads will always look like it does today with trees, fields, open space and tranquility.

Daughter Molly was born in 1985 and attended Delaware Township School. Molly went to college in New York City and now lives in Philadelphia.

Both John and Deborah still work full time. Deborah directs a center at Robert Wood Johnson Medical School at Rutgers creating community opportunities for people with disabilities, including intellectual disability, autism, cerebral palsy and epilepsy. "We reach into the medical school at Rutgers and train future health professionals who will work with community agencies and group homes, and do a lot of work with families and people with disabilities themselves. I love what I do" Deborah says. "I do grant writing, teach medical students, teach social workers, do research and try to make public policy friendlier to people with disabilities. I've been working there now for 34 years. I never imagined I wouldn't be retired by now, but I love my work, and there are so many more things I want to do."

When he left DEP as an Assistant Commissioner, John worked for four years as Executive Director of a state commission trying to find a place to safely dispose of low-level radioactive waste. He later received a grant to write a book about this experience which he titled, "Waste Is A Terrible Thing To Mind." Written with what a reviewer described as "a wry sense of humor," the book explores how we as a society understand science and risk, and the challenges for government in grappling with the many issues involving complexity and uncertainty.

John was always interested in the working of government. He served a term on the Township Board of Education and after 23 years in State government, worked for Congressman Rush Holt as district director. In 2000 he became the Associate Director of Rutgers' Eagleton Institute of Politics where he runs a graduate fellowship program and a center studying the office of governor in the 50 states. He also writes and does public speaking.

In addition to his Sunday night radio show WPRB, John runs several concerts each year at the Prallsville Mill. He brings in rarely-heard musicians who appreciate the warmth of the community and the 'accidental acoustics' of the Mill. He asks that anyone wanting to be on the list for news of upcoming concerts let him know at concerts@veryseldom.com.

Deborah sums up their jobs this way, "We both have careers that are interesting to each other and have significant parallels. A lot of the work we do is similar; teaching students, though in different areas. We teach students in real world ways: from a university base, but very much looking outward."

When asked what they would tell students on the brink of their careers, Deborah says "Even if it's not your long-term career goal, do something that will make a difference in other peoples' lives." John says: "Think seriously about ways you can help government be better. It's incredibly challenging and often frustrating but also often satisfying and always essential."

Historical Society

8th Grade Essay Winner: Megan Eastman

One of the most important events in American history is Apollo 11, the spaceflight that first allowed humans to step foot on the moon. Apollo 11 landed on the moon on July 20, 1969. At this moment science progressed and the nation was brought together and permanently bonded over the success of their country. Shortly after the now famous astronauts returned home, they embarked on a 45 day, "Giant Leap", tour. They toured the entire country as well as twenty five foreign countries and were met with cheering and celebration at each destination. The United States of America had made a crucial contribution not only to ourselves but to the entire world's advancement in science.

To honor and memorialize this historic, influential moment in our history, a memorial should be placed within Delaware Township. The proposed idea is a large stone sphere which would symbolize the moon. Engraved around the equator of the moon would be the twelve Americans who have walked on the moon's names. The names of the two astronauts who first walked on the moon, Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin, would be slightly larger and italicized to differentiate them from the other astronauts. The sphere would be five feet tall by five feet wide and would be placed upon a large slab of marble.

Although this event is not typically looked at as something to be remembered with a memorial or as a symbol of our country, it is very culturally significant. After Apollo 11 landed on the moon, the entire country was united in celebrating the victory for our country. Not only did the success improve our country internally, but it also helped to establish a reputation of strength and intellectual superiority to competing countries. Along with providing many benefits to our country temporarily at the time of the spaceflight, Apollo 11 has continued to be an inspiration to science and our goals to better understand our solar system. Achievements in space exploration, opposed to other important events in US history, are still prevalent today as there is always more to discover. For this reason, a memorial for Apollo 11 would have a long lasting impact and continue to symbolize all scientific advancements made.

A memorial created to honor Apollo 11 should be placed somewhere important and in public view. An appropriate place in our town that receives foot traffic and has neighboring businesses and the school is the township building. This inspirational memorial could be placed in front of the building near the front entrance. This would allow for it to be seen from across the street and by cars as they drive by.

Apollo 11 is one of the most influential, inspirational, and positive events in the history of the United States of America. A memorial to honor the astronauts and the event itself would greatly benefit our town.

Delaware Township School: Environmental Congress Recognition

At its meeting of June 21, 2017, the Delaware Township Environmental Commission recognized the hours and efforts of the 8th graders of the Delaware Township School Environmental Congress with an individual gift certificate to Nina's Ice Cream.

The students participating in the Environmental Congress were: Demetrius Apostolis, Jenny Ball, James DeGroat, Steve Hawkins, Jack Herman, Grant Kingston, Emma Nagy, Eve Pontecorvo, Max Schror, and Curtis Wheatley.

The students helped with trail work, educated younger students, hosted an Earth Day Craft Fair, helped sponsor the Arbor Day program, and participated in both the annual March on Litter and a Waterway Clean up on Dunkard Church Road.

The Environmental Commission chairperson Tony Szwed sent a letter of thanks to this school group and its advisor, Ellen McShane, for their efforts and volunteerism on behalf of Delaware Township.

Fifth Annual St. Baldrick's Head-Shaving Event and Auction

Sergeantsville Fire House: September 24, 2017 - Noon to 5pm

Did you know that September is Childhood Cancer Awareness Month? Did you know that every TWO minutes a child is diagnosed with cancer and that one in every five of those children will not survive? Of those who do survive, 95% will have chronic health problems later in life. Sadly, less than 4% of the National Health Institute's budget is allocated for childhood cancer research. That's why the St. Baldrick's Foundation is the largest private funder of childhood cancer research.

Please get involved with our local St. Baldrick's Event at the Sergeantsville Fire House on September 24th. We need volunteers to shave their heads. While you may be thinking "are you crazy," volunteers shave their heads to stand in solidarity with children who typically lose their hair during treatment, and collect donations for lifesaving childhood cancer research. Children shouldn't have to fight cancer alone! As a shavee, I can affirm that shaving for a child in need is the most empowering experience I have ever felt. I have witnessed the heart wrenching reality of children fighting cancer.

If shaving is not for you, you can still help with this event! We need volunteers to set up a fundraising page online with St. Baldrick's and raise funds for the cause and we need volunteers to work the event. We always welcome new, quality items and gift cards for our auction. We need monetary donations as we work toward this year's goal of reaching $250,000 raised locally in five short years!

To register online to "Rock the Bald," volunteer or donate please visit: www.StBaldricks.org/events/SergeantsvilleFire2017. For answers to questions about St. Baldrick's or to arrange pick up of donations please contact Event Organizer Linda Swackhamer at 908.303.4910 or email at gramswack@gmail.com.

And there is one more way you can make a difference in the life of a child. Come to the Event and I promise your life and that of a child will be changed forever! It is a family friendly event with lunch counter, music, speakers, baked goods, children's activities, fire truck rides, live and silent auctions and, of course, the head-shaving. It is truly a fun afternoon while doing something very important for the more than 500,000 children awaiting the next best treatment.

Annalise Zadnik, our four-year-old honored child this year, will be welcomed into the firehouse with an honor guard and a bagpiper at 1 p.m. I hope you will be among those cheering our little hero. While all of our shavees are noteworthy it is with pride that we announce Assemblyman Jack Ciattarelli, Hunterdon County Freeholder Director John Lanza and Delaware Township Mayor Charles Herman will be among those shavees. We are assembling some pretty amazing auction items, including 4 Walt Disney World Park Hopper tickets and 5-night stay at Vistana Resort just outside the magic gates. I hope you will be there for the bidding at 2 p.m.

We are $35,000 from our goal. Won't you please mark your calendar for September 24, 2017 and help us take childhood back from cancer?

Sergeantsville Farmers' Market

The Sergeantsville Farmers' Market continues through the end of October with farm-fresh, locally grown vegetables, pork, lamb, chicken and eggs, as well as flowers and artisan goods. The market also features entertainment such as live music, pony rides, and other activities for children. This year's vendors include Blue Mist Hollow Farm, Croton Farmers' Cooperative, Keona Farm, Mt. Salem Farm, Q's Cookies, Sweet Valley Farm and the VanNess Farm.

Located across from the Township building, the market is open from 8:30 am to noon every Saturday through the end of October. Visit us on Facebook. Interested in becoming a vendor? Call Jack Gaskill at 908-268-3641.

Stop by the market for farm fresh food.

March on Litter

The Environmental Commission's annual March on Litter will be held on October 14, 2017 from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., rain or shine. It begins and ends at the Dilts Farm Park. Adult volunteers are needed to accompany our many young volunteers. Children from Kindergarten through 8th Grade participate in this event, so adult assistance is really needed. All participants will be provided with gloves, garbage bags, and the annual tee-shirt. The tee-shirt color is ALWAYS a surprise! Lunch will be provided.

The original March on Litter was held in 1991. All are invited to attend and help maintain the beauty of Delaware Township.

See you at the Park and remember, PLEASE DRIVE SLOWLY AND WATCH FOR CHILDREN ON OUR ROADS!

Sponsored by the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection Clean Communities Program and the Delaware Township Environmental Commission.

Well Water Test Kits Available

The Delaware Township Environmental Commission and the Raritan Headwaters Association (RHA) are co-sponsoring a community well-testing program for homeowners to test their drinking water for chemical and biological contaminants. Water test kits will be available for purchase at the Township Building from September 14th to September 26th.

To purchase a test kit, you must use a check (no cash) payable to the Raritan Headwaters Association and return your filled sample containers and completed paperwork to the Township Building on Wednesday, September 27 between 7:00 a.m. and 9:00 am. Test results are confidential; however the Township receives a generic notice about the findings so that it can act if it appears that a public health concern exists.

Note that the test kits are not as comprehensive as the testing required by the Private Well Testing Act and cannot be used for this purpose if you are selling your home.

Basic kits test for total and fecal coliform bacteria, and nitrate levels and cost $60. Other tests are available for additional fees: Lead-$25; Volatile Organics (62 chemicals)-$95; Arsenic-$35; Pesticides (18 chemicals)-$135; Radon-$50; Iron-$15; Manganese-$15; and Gross Alpha (radioactive contaminants)-$80.

There will be a detailed description of the available tests on the Township's website. www.DelawareTwpNJ.org.

For more information about RHA's well testing program, please call Mara Tippet from the Raritan Headwaters Association at (908) 234-1852 ext. 401 or e-mail to welltesting@raritanheadwaters.org.

Pipeline Update

The Township's Pipeline Subcommittee continues to comb through the extensive documents PennEast provided in order to identify shortcomings for the next review that the pipeline will eventually undergo at the State level.

In the mean time, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission was awaiting new members, without whom they could not act. It is anticipated that with a full Commission, they will likely approve the pipeline which will lead to the ability for PennEast to use eminent domain.

The various pipeline citizens groups will be providing guidance to anyone who needs it regarding the eminent domain process. For information, please contact HALT (www.haltpenneast.org) or DT CAP (www.dtcap.org).

Why Test Your Water? Know Your Numbers

While many of us know our blood pressure, cholesterol and sugar levels, do you know the levels of coliform bacteria, arsenic and other contaminants in your drinking water? When was the last time you had your well water tested?

Safe drinking water is essential to good health, and testing well water at a certified lab is the only way to know whether water from a private well is safe. Testing your well water for chemical and biological contamination is important since many contaminants can be harmful, even though they are tasteless and odorless.

Both human-caused and naturally occurring contaminants are often found in private wells. Nitrates and bacteria, which can lead to immediate and serious health conditions, may be found in well water as a result of a poorly performing septic system or a nearby agricultural source.

Two naturally occurring elements, arsenic and radon, are also commonly found in well water in northwestern New Jersey. Scientific studies associate long-term exposure to arsenic and radon with cancer and other health effects.

Public health authorities recommend annual testing. If your well has not been tested for several years, now is the time to test.

You can sample your well water as part of this year's Community Well Testing Program. Sample kits will be on sale at Township Hall from September 14th through September 26th. Sample drop off is September 27 between 7 and 9 AM at Township Hall.

If you cannot make this year's Community Well Testing Program but still wish to sample your well water, please contact Mara Tippet from the Raritan Headwaters Association at (908) 234-1852 ext. 401 or e-mail to welltesting@raritanheadwaters.org to make arrangements.
